

Essential Question:

How can teachers effect change and exhibit leadership in their own communities?

What does the community expect from educators?